P.P.M.S. BAND PLAYS WITH H.S.

The 7th and 8th grade band joined the high schoolers at the half time for the football game.

They played "Hail to PawPaw", "All Super-cal March", "The Muppet Show theme", and "Hail to Paw Paw High" twice through. Then they marched off the field.

This reporter believes the band was good luck because Paw PAw won that game.

CLINTON WINS M.S. ELECTION

The 6th, 7th and 8th grades all voted in a mock election run by G.Timers. Bush, Perot, and Clinton were all on the ballot.

First place went to Clinton with 186 votes. Second place went to Bush with 70 votes and third place to Perot with 63. (pretty close on those last two, huh?)

Some of the voters made up their own candidates. Votes were registered for Big Boy, Mickey Mose, D.J.Quick, Bob Wanda and last but certainly not least Mr. Edinger.

Thirteen people said that all of the candidates stink and they had no opinion.

By the way, did you know that Weekly Reader magazine does this mock election for elementary studentsand for the past nine elections they picked the winner each time? This year they picked Bush to win. We'll see if they are right after November 3.

Quayle Visits - Two Reporters' Views ...

Sixth Graders Comment on M.S.

Sixth graders were interviewed on their reactions to the middle school.

Dawn DEan said, " the difference here is the lockers. I like the middle school. It's not as boring as the elementary."

Matt Lawson said," The difference here is there are more things to remember. I like it because there are more options."

Michael Root said,"There are two floors and that is a difference from Cedar STreet. I like it because you change classes."

Katrina Carothers said, "The lockers are sure different. I like it because you have to behave more responsibly."

Sherie Bastien said, "One difference is getting up earlier. I like getting home earlier. The middle school is o.k.."

BASKETBALL TEAM ROSTE

The 8th graders on the basketball team include Amanda Alexander, Mikki Wright, Seanna Sullivan, Christy Vesey, Kim Abshagen, Molly Kuntz, Amy Stimac, Heather Labadie, Lisa Leathers, Angela Lanter, and Amber Major, all A team members.

The 8th grade B team members are Nikki Pedersen, Jessica Handley, Erryn Rice, Sara Weaver, Jeena Bowers, Jessica Sheltrown, Lorri Robbins, Angela Edwards, ALyssa Munger, and Jessica Surdy.

The 7th grade girls are Erin Vesey, Kelly DeRight, Kim Stover, Michelle Wallace, Andrea Farber, Sarah Hagg, Amy Withers, Christy Taylor, Bonnie Pursley, Jenny Ayers, Erica Harvey, Casey Mendenhall, Margie and Sarah Diemer, Shannon Boulter, Lindsey Nufer, and Beth Tapper.

DAN QUAYLE IN PAWPAW

Dan Quayle visited PawPaw last week. The following are two students' views on that visit to the Van Buren Court House.

Dan Quayle visited Paw Paw on October 20. This was the first visit to Paw Paw by an authoritative figure like Mr. Quayle. Although Paw PAw is a Republican twon, plenty of Clinton/Gore supporters showed up.

Quayle was an hour late. A speaker passed the time by trying to get the crowd to chant "four more years." He only ended up getting half the crowdto chant " four more days."

Overall, this reporter's assessment is that Quayle bombed but not by much.

Summary of Bill Clinton

Bill Clinton went to elementary school in Hot Springs, Arkansas. The school he attended was St. John'S. Young Bill was an "A" student. In second grade his teacher Sister Mary gave him a C in behavior. The reason he got the C was because Bill talked way too much. Sister Mary told his mom, "And I promise you if he wants to , he will be the president." As you can see, Mr. Clinton does want to be president.

Bill's biological father died in a car wreck so Mr. Clinton took his stepfather's name. Clinton lived with his grandparents while his mother studied nursing. Bill met his wife Hillary at Yale University, where she studied law.

Mrs. Clinton used to be a Republican but she switched to Democrat.

The Clintons have twelve-year-old daughter named Chelsea. Hillary is a business woman. She believes and talks a lot about the rights of kids. Shewill continue to discuss that matter if she becomes First Lady.

Bill Clinton, Democrat, is very qualified, in this reporter's eyes, to be President of the United States.

QUAYLE: Another Perspective

Never before has a president or vice-president visited Paw PAw, but on October 20th, Vice-president Quayle stopped at the Court Hose and gave a rousing speech about family values, no new taxes, and economic recovery. He gave his word that these items had the Bush Administration's top priority.

He arrived in one of three buses dressed in a red, white and blue jogging outfit,surrounded by secret police. His friendly smile and easy way of speaking soon had the crowd listening and cheering. People, yoand old, from all over the county were not disappointed even though many waited over an hour and a half for Mr. Quayle's arrival.

This reporter is glad he was there and can someday tell his kids about the time I saw the Vice-president of the United States.

The Last Round of Debates

The three candidates for president faced off October 12 in East Lansing at M.S.U. for a debate, the last one of this election.

The candidates are Ross Perot, Bill Clinton, and George Bush, each with their own strategies. George Bush still attacks the other candidates, primarily Bill Clinton who is ahead in the polls. Meanwhile Ross Perot and Bill Clinton also attack Bush and each other while usingthings like their economic plan or other different ways of changing the past for this country.

The winner of the election will be our president for four years. The question is who will it be? We'll see Tuesday.

Meet His Treasure...

My treasure is an overgrown mutant gerbil with sabre fangs , razor sharp and claws that could slash through a beef bon like a hot knife through butter. I know it doesn't sound like a treasure, but it was made and patented by my grandfather who was a genetic engineer. I say "was" because he was killed by a group of animal rights activists storming his laboratory when he tried to put the brain of a chicken into a chimpanzee. That's no reason to get mad, is it? Anyway, my grandpa was very special to me. He taught me all I know about genetics, mad science, and such. We spent a lot of time together. The gerbil is all I have left of him because I put his brain in there.

Dear Sam,

DEAR SAM,

This girl in school is a real son of a gun. I really hate her. I want to confront her but I need more courage.
Needs help

DEAR NEEDS,
If you really hate her, confront her for whatever reasons you might have and make it clear to her exactly how you feel. Ask yourself first though why you are so angry at her; maybe you need to do some changing too.

DEAR SAM,
Help me. My father told me he couldn't remember when I was born. My mo said he was with another woman at the time. My dad told me that if it wasn't for me, he and mom would havsplit up long ago. I feel guilty.
Guilty

Concert Cancelled

The choir concert was cancelled this month because of a death in Mrs. Helland's family. The next concert is December 10 at 8:00.

e.selby and j. yerty

DEAR GUILTY,
First of all, you are not to blame for their marriage problems. That is their problem. Tell your father how you feel. Tell them both. If you are afraid to , then perhaps you need to talk to a counselor here at school or to a teacher. Guilt like yours is not yours to own. You need help unloading it. That may take discussion at home or with someone trained to listen.

DEAR SAM,
I have a horrible problem. My parents have recently divorced. My dad has remarried . I feel torn between mu mom and step-mom. I love my mom, but I also love my step-mom. My mom makes me feel bad about liking my step-mom. What can I do to make her feel different?
Troubled

DEAR TROUBLED,
Try to tell your mom how you feel. Make it clear that you will always love her. She need to know how difficult it is for a kid to be torn in such a way. Your liking your step-mom in no way says you're happy that your parents divorced or anything like that. It just says you're getting on with your life in a healthy way and that you want most of all to be free to do so without guilt. (Your mom's own hurt feelings may be making her want you to not like your step-mom.)

DEAR SAM,
My parents are constantly yelling at each other. I'm getting way behind in my school work because I can't get my work done. What do I do?

DEAR WHAT,
When they start yelling, see if you can go to the library. (if you live in town.) Ask to stay after school to get some work done or caught up. Use your study hall if you have one. Can you work with the radio on? That might help the noise but it won't help the tension you feel. Can you work at a friend's house? Good luck.

Mrs. Beyer Joins the 7th & 8th

Mrs. Beyer is new to our building this year but not new to Paw Paw. She has taught for nineteen years. She taught fifth grade for seventeen years, fourth for a year and this is her first year at seventh and eighth grade. I asked her why she chose to come to the middle school and what she likes best about the kids.

She said," I like the age group I'm working with and the atmosphere I'm in and I like kids."

Mrs. Beyer has two kids , Chris and Kelly, and two step-daughters, Jamie and Holly. Her husband's name is Jim and he is a home builder who is building their new house on Eagle Lake. Her favorite childhood memory was when her parents, her brother, and she took their trailer and went camping, fishing and swimming.

She is 40 years old and her favorite hobbies are dancing with her husband and playing with her kids. Her favorite sports are golf, tennis, water skiing, downhill and cross-country skiing.

She is not into domestic things like cooking, cleaning, sewing etc. Her favorite kind of music is current popular music and some rap music. Her favorite singers are PAula Abdul, Amy Grant, Tim Cochran, and John Sacota. Her favorite songs are "Life is a Highway" and "Just Another Day." Her favorite movies are "Ghost", "A League of Her Own", and "Lethal Weapon I and II."

Her favorite actors are Tom Selleck, Kurt Russell, Mel Gibson and Michael Douglas. Her favorite actresses are Kathleen Turner, Goldie Hawn, Julie Roberts, and Demi Moore.

If she had a choice of what to wear to school, she'd pick jeans or sweats. If she were principal for a day, she would bus everyone to Grand Rapids to DeVos Hall to see "Cats."

Halloween Essay Winners

Two compositions won our prizes for best Halloween writing. The first is by Erin Davis.

Blackness surrounds the land,
Wretched figures stand, lined along
An endless black valley.
A glowing ball is set in the dark sky,
Peering out from behind the still, smokey grey clouds.
A thick, snow-white fog sprawls
Covering the still land
Wickedly clutching the evil trees
Trees that haunt the valley
Like tattered rags.
A lonely howl pieres the silence
Rings on and on like a silver bell.

The wind whines. It drowns out
The lonely deafening sounds.
The trees sway monotonously
Side to side.
The shuffling of ghostly leaves
Break the silence.
The sounds grow closer
As the wind briskly whispers
Into the night.

Trick... or Treat?

One Halloween night a little kid was walking around trick-or-treating. Suddenly he stopped, dead in his tracks. He heard something, but it was only his stomach growling because he didn'T eat dinner and looking at all his candy didn't help much either.

He went over to another house and rang the door bell. He yelled,"Trick or treat." Nobody answered. That was the twentieth house he'D been to and nobody answered. He was getting sick or trick or treating. He wanted to go home.

Then he saw it. It was bigger than big- it was a king-size candy bar. He ran up to the door where it was sitting. Rushing for it, he tripped over his own foot and broke his arm. See p.5

The pain woke him up. He had fallen out of bed. It was only a dream.

MOVIE MOMENT: Review

With the baseball season coming to a close, Tom Selleck and Frank Thomas take a swing at Mr. Baseball.

Tom Selleck plays an aging legend. His position on the Yankee's first string 3rd base spot is threatened by a young upstart, Frank Thomas.

The Yank decide to tradehim but hey only get one offer. Okay, he's off to Japan. the deal is, he gets to ply for the Hirakato Dragons, a failing expansion team.

Several problems with Japanese customs and religions arise. I guessyou have to see the movie to see what happens.

Voices of the Middle School- your forum for discussion

Hi there. This is a fellow from the 8th grade. I'm here to discuss the new detention policies, which some students find offensive. The holding hands business is one of them. I can see the part about kissing and embracing because some people really get involved with each other in school. But I don't see why we can't hold hands. If anybody can explain this, please write to the paper.

FALL FOR FASHION

Fall is starting to blow in and with that comes new fashion. The mot fashionable colors are dark, natural and bright colors.

Hip hop is in. That means cobat boots, bibs, flannel shirts over colored tee's , rugby jackets and oversized clothing.

Over-accessorizing is in; tons of jewelery and necklaces, floss bracelets, and sign necklaces. (peace signs, yin/yang, male/female signs, anarchy, etc.)

A few different things that are in are McEsher shirts, Converse shos, and colored pants.

This fashion doesn't apply to all people because people make their own fashion.

There are only a few don'ts: cowboy boots, neon colors, sweats, polyester, polka dots and tanning.

MOVIE MOMENT II: REVIEW

If you missed Batman Returns, you haven' missed much, according to GT critic Sarah Plucinski.

If you're looking for good action, you'll be disappointed. It's o.k. but I wouldn't spend more than a dollar to see it. The Penguin, played by Danny DeVito, was terrible. He looked like he was stuffed with pillows. Michelle Pfeiffer did a good job though. If you're bored and have nothing else to do, watch it. Otherwise save your moeny for something good.

Art Class Enters Contest

Class Act Environmental awareness contest is being entered again by the 8th graders in art class. This year they are making calendars to save the rain forests around the world.

For every $10 profit, 2500 feet will saved. Every additional $5 will buy a tree to be planted in the rain forest. The buyers will receive a certificate saying the saved a tree.

SHICK TRACER - Detective

A new year and a new episode of Shick Tracer...

The swingin' 20's. A time for long beadds and short skirts, big bands and small dance floors,and gang violence.

Only one man can stop them, Shick Tracer. Here is his story.

Tracer was born Oct. 17, 1899. He had heard of many things as a boy, flight, the horseless carriage, then...war. His father and older brother joined the RAF but were never seen again. The telegraph Tracer's mother received told that Tracer's father had been shot down by German artillery during a photo-reconnaissance run over the Arras front near northern Germany.Tracer'S brother had the honor of being killed by, who else, the Red Baron.

The next few years were bad for TRacer,really bad. He left home at 17 and began his life over, on the streets. Then opportunity knocked him over the head. He was mugged by a gang of thugs. After explaining to them that "Heck I don'T got any cash. Look at my clothes. I'm a bum!", he quickly joined up with a gang, looking for easy money. But money isn'T easy and soon Tracer was convicted for assault.

He spent four years rotting in a stone closet space with only mushy, tasteless slop to sustain him.

He came out a new man, but with nothing to do. He was 21 with no education except knocking people out and being a go-fer for a big crime boss.

With his street-smart-type education, he joined the police force.

At first he didn't do much. He just ran errands and made coffee and doughnuts. Goodie.

But he worked his way up, clawing up to senior detective. His deductive skills were legendary, but his boss, the chief, felt threatened by Tracer. So he framed him, stuck up for him in court, and got him only dishonorably discharged from the force.

see p.7

Slicker Still

So all this molded his career as a P.I.

In a few years he got his hardest case. That's what this is all about.

1-

"Tracer, Shick Tracer. Private EYe. Whatcan I do for ya sweetie?"

Same old story. Dame's gota problem, needs me to solve it, thought Tracer.

"I've got a problem. I need you to solve it for me."

Tracer sighed. What a bore. He'd rather be out punching guys out.

"My friend is gone. I think his former gang buds nabbed him."

Maybe this won't be so bad. Tracer walked across his office.

"I need you to give me more info. Then I can solve anything you throw at me." R. Gehl

10 Questions a Smart Person Wants to know & Answers...

Hot Lunch?

1. What's in it? In hot lunch there is no real food. Mostly hot lunch is a mix of Purina Dog Chow and other organisms. The amount of real food is .0000001.

2. Is hot lunch alive? Yes. Scientific experiments show that one day a hot dog got up and left. WE dissected a gumba pizza and it screamed. So, if you eat hot lunch, stab it first and put it out of its pain.

3.Who makes hot lunch? Well, no body knows but a lot of us think someone goes around stealing dog food from outside dog houses and off of porches, smushes it together and calls it "lunch."

4.Why is hot lunch cold? Hot lucnh is cold because how do yo think a dead body is supposed to be?

5.Are Chicken Nuggets chicken ? Well, theyare bird but not chickens. The lunch service does a good job for the village of Paw Paw by shooting all the pigeons off the roofs. Why they don't just fess up to it and call them "pigeon nuggest" is beyond me.

6.Why do people eat hot lunch? Out of 100 surveyed, nine said because theyare starving, and if they don't eat something they will die. 90 others said they were at gun point and one sick-minded person said he liked it.

7.Will you die from hot lunch? Yes and no. If you eat too much of the wrong kind, yes, you will die. If you eat it a little at a time, no you won't. Example. If youate the pizza every day, yes. If you eat it once between the ages of 1- 100, no.

8.Why don't they list the ingredients on the hot lunch? Hot lunch needs to make money and if they told what was in it, no one would buy it. Or would they?

9.Is the hot lunch service held responsible for killing off students? No, it happens a lot. It's like paying $1.20 for your life. They get rich and you're dead as a door nail.

from p. 7... Lunch ???

10. Why do some teachers buy so much hot lunch? After so many years, you either die or become immune. Your body wants more and more of it. It's an addiction. Instead of "Drug Free zones, we may need "Hot lunch Free zones."

Mrs. Pasman Joins Staff

Mrs. Pasman is new to the middle school too this year but not new to the building.

She was born in Kalamazoo and went to Otsego High. She played the flute in the band. She went on to Central Michigan and Western Michigan. Mrs. Pasman is now going back to school for her masters' degree in middle school education.

Married, she and her husband have two children. Her interests are basketball, sewing, and teaching. She has a collie dog.

Mrs. Pasman' enjoying the middle school because the students are older and more mature. She said it was neat to see 6th graders all grown up. If she weren't teaching she'd still want to work with people.

Mrs. Pasman likes Paw Paw because it's not as threatening as Detroit, where her husband is from. She likes the small town security and the general area.

She finds hall passes annoying but can't think of a better solution. (Neither can we.)

Mrs. Pasman's favorite holiday is Easter isn't a lot less stressful than Christmas or the other big ones. We know how you feel, Mrs. Pasman.

To TAG or not to TAG?

The bottom line in our "Do you like/need study hall?" survey is that most of you, (8 out of every 10) thought it was worthwhile to have it even if a lot of those who have it don't always like it. Typical responses were as follows:

Missy Johnson said, "I like it because if I forget a book, I can grab it and theworksheet and get my homework done so I won't get in trouble."

Springe Stubbs said, "I need it because I am a very procrastinating personand it's a good way to get homework done so you don't have a lot." Brian Winters said, "I can'T get all my work done at home."

Brian'S statement was echoed by many who felt that their afterschool activities (soccer, basketball, clubs, shots, orthodontics...) took up a lot of their out-of-school time, forcing them to use study hall. Stephanie Van Loon echoed this when she said, " AT night I have quite a bit of homework and I have soccer practice and games on some nights. It helps if I get as much done as possible at home and TAG to back me up."

Brooke Guernsey said, "I need it toget my homework done." Kurt Strasser agreed and added," so I don't have to take every book home." Andy Dentler felt he would have " to do thousands of papers every night otherwise." Erica Selby, who doesn't have TAG, said, "I need it because some nights I have way too much homework."

John Branch likes it so " I can get a lot of reading done that I don't do at home." Heather Aspinwall agreed. "It gives me extra time to study and to read my library books."

Opposing TAg was Chris Terry who said, " I never get my work done in it anyway. I do it at home." Laura Mattison feels, "It's so loud in there (TAG) you can't get any work done anyhow." Jason TRipp doesn'T like it "There's nothing to do and I get my homework done at home."

On the whole though, Warner Offord sums up the feelings of most when he says, "I need it because sometimes I have a lot of homework."
